Nazi Aircraft Wrecks Clutter Up Countryside

The English countryside is becoming "cluttered up" by German aircraft shot down by British pilots or anti-aircraft defences, according to Flight Lieut. Howard C. Cottrell of the Royal Canadian Air Force, now serving "somewhere in England" and formerly District Traffic Manager for Trans-Canada Air Lines at Winnipeg.

In a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Cottrell of Vancouver, he describes how Nazi planes were shot down in large numbers.

"The other night five of them were knocked down within about three miles from here in 10 minutes," he writes.

"A few weeks ago a bunch of dive bombers attacked an airbase and the ground gunners stuck to their posts and knocked down 22 on the airfield. I am told that their own aircraft had a decent of a job landing."

The score is 185 for yesterday so far and you can figure that the odd one crashed on the way home. That is a lot of airplanes when you consider that about 140 of them are as big as the T. C. A. planes and pack crews of three or more."

"If you saw 185 planes in the air all at once on the same level, you'd think every airplane in the world was there."

Flight Lieut. Cottrell also tells of a visit to the new Fifth Canadian General Hospital which he says is a "beautiful layout."

"I wanted to get sick right away," he writes.

He also tells of a visit on leave to Devon and Cornwall and praises the Convention.—Carried.

Presbyterian Moderator Visitor To Wainwright

Charlie Chan's Murder Cruise

The starting point of this Charlie Chan adventure is Honolulu, whence the story moves aboard ship and progresses to San Francisco, where solution of the mystery and capture of the criminal is achieved. The pictures assume a considerably higher percentage of murder than most, in the Chan series, runs up a par course in the humor department and, according to audience reaction noted, generates more melodramatic tension than most.

The murdering, by strangulation, has been going on for some while before the picture opens, the news being brought to "Chan" by a Scotland Yard operative just arrived incognito as a member of a world cruise party which has been losing its numerical strength and emotional composure as the result of an unknown criminal's operations. The Scotland Yard operative is murdered immediately after giving "Chan" the few facts in the case which he knows, and "Chan" goes on from there alone save for such inept aid as his ambitious No. 2 son provides.

Short service was conducted in the church at 8 o'clock, in charge of Dr. Stevens, in which Rev. Mr. Richard, of the United Church led in prayer. Later a social hour was spent at which every person present had the opportunity to shake hands with the Moderator.

Before leaving, the Moderator expressed his pleasure of meeting the people, and was given a royal ovation.

Junior Red Cross Is Formed, Public School

The Wainwright public school has formed a local branch of the Junior Red Cross.

Following is the pledge each junior must take in becoming a member—"I promise to do my best to keep the rules of health to help children less fortunate than myself, and to be a true Canadian and faithful to Junior Red Cross."

A record enrolment is anticipated and no doubt all juniors will be kept busy during the year fulfilling their pledges.

Election of officers will take place this week and will be announced later.

Ban Shooting In Wainwright Park

Officials of the National Park Wainwright have taken steps to correct a false impression which seems to have gained considerable credence among the people of the district.

This concerns the game regulations within the park boundaries here. The belief seems to be fairly common that since the park has been taken over by the department of National Defence, restrictions on shooting and hunting in the area have been cancelled and the park is now open for hunters.

This is not so. There has been no change in this regard and the park is still, as hitherto, a sanctuary for wild life of all kinds. No hunting of any kind is permitted and sportsmen are asked to take note of this and govern themselves accordingly.

The action in continuing this area as a game sanctuary is in line with requests which were forwarded by many organizations at the time the proposed change in the status of our National Park was first announced.

Appeal Made For Vet's Poppy Day

Plans for the annual Poppy Day campaign are being formulated by the local branch of the Canadian Legion, B.E.S.L., and all are asked to give all assistance possible to make the 1940 appeal to the general public the most successful in history.

The poppies and wreaths for the campaign are made in Veterans shops and give employment to many hundreds of disabled soldiers.

The monies raised in this campaign locally will be used to give assistance to needy ex-service men and their families.

The students of Wainwright Separate School enjoyed last week an educational treat in the form of two films shown in the school auditorium.

The films given by the representative of the United Grain Growers were very interesting and instructive. The first, on wheat, explained methods of production, harvesting, flour-milling and transportation.

The second picture, Canada's War Effort, showed the improvement in preparation for the war of 1940 over that of 1914. It reminded us of the sacrifice made by Canadians in the last war, and showed the great amount being accomplished at present to make Canada's war effort worthy of Canadians.

At the close of the program, at the request of Donald MacKenzie, a hearty expression of appreciation was given the gentleman who had so kindly presented the pictures.

YOUNG FARMERS GET
NEXT TRAINING CALL

Young farmers whose military training was postponed in October in order not to take them away from the fall ploughing and other work will get the call for the second training period in Canada's 39 militia training centers, Major-Gen. L. R. LaPêche, associate deputy minister for National War Services, announced on Sunday night last.

As indicated by statutory notices which have been posted about town as required by the Town and Village Act and as published in The Star, certain relatives of assessed persons and tenants may apply up until Oct. 31st to have their names included on the Voters' List.

Up to the time of writing, only a small number of those entitled by law so to do, have made the necessary application.

This is just a reminder to those concerned that the time for making the application will expire on Thursday with the closing of the office of the secretary for that day, and therefore all who wish to exercise their franchise right to get their application made at once, rather than to grumble about the loss of their voting right next February!

Misses Eleanor Cork and M. Tolmie, who have been holidaying at the coast returned home last week end.

How The Dominions Help In The Fight For Freedom

The battle for Britain has spurred Dominions and Colonial Empire allies to intensive war effort. In men, money and supplies all are throwing their strength into the fight.

In Army, Navy and Air Force together, Canada has now nearly 200,000 men on active service. Finishing touches are being put to 39 training camps throughout the Dominion. There, within a week, the first contingent of 30,000 young men will receive thirty days compulsory training.

Memoranda from the British Ministry of Information show what other dominions are doing.

Australia
A proclamation of November 30, 1939, made all unmarried males or widowers without children liable for military service in Australia; the 20 class of 25,000 men was called up during the winter.

A proclamation of July 31 called up four groups of men, to 24 years old; they will provide 95,000 recruits for training.

The strength of the Australian Imperial Force is being fixed temporarily at 90,000 men, of whom 70,000 were already enlisted in July. Enlistments in the A.I.F. for the four weeks to July 11 were 41,400 men. By June 16, 20,000 men were already abroad.

The Government plans to increase the Home Defence Force to 210,000 men, including 95,000 compulsory recruits, by March 1941. At the end of June the number of men under arms in the Home Defence Force was over 100,000.

There were 12,000 men in the Royal Australian Navy at the beginning of August. Before the war the number was 5,400. Measures for training anti-submarine crews for the Royal Navy will involve 1,700 more men.

The number of men enrolled in the Naval Volunteer Reserve is about 1,000.

Total applications for the Royal Australian Air Force and the Empire Air Scheme have been 125,000 men.

New Zealand

Compulsory military service was introduced June 17. A General Reserve was established including all males over 16; and a selection of reservists will be made by ballot for service in New Zealand and overseas of men between the ages of 21 and 45.

Voluntary recruiting for the New Zealand armed forces ceased on July 22 with a total of 80,000 enlistments.

The territorial army, with new units forming, provide nearly 30,000 men. Total number of recruits for the Maori Battalion was 4,103 at the end of July, about 43 percent of the men between the ages of 21 and 45.

By May the New Zealand Air Force was already four times as large as in peace time. About 5,000 men are serving or in training. There have been nearly 14,000 applications for enrolment.

There are about 900 New Zealand airmen in the Royal Air Force.

By the Defence Acts of 1912 and 1922, every Union citizen of European descent is liable for training in peace time and for service in the defence of the country in war time in any part of South Africa within or without the Union. A minimum of 90 percent of those liable for peace training is required annually, the men concerned becoming members of the Active Citizen Force. Others are required to enrol as members of rifle associations. As an alternative, citizens may enter for service in the South African Division of the Royal Naval Volunteer Reserve.

The number of men volunteering for service is rapidly approaching the 137,000 mark aimed at when recruiting started. Recruiting was largely stimulated by the invasion of the Low Countries and the entrance of Italy into the war. With a few exceptions volunteers are attesting for service "anywhere in Africa."

Military preparations planned in September last included full training of several divisions of the Active Citizen Force. With a view to securing greater mobility mounted brigades were organized and attached to two of these Divisions. Pioneer battalions of colored and native people were created for non-combatant service in the field.

In June the presence in East Africa of an advance contingent of South African Mobile Field Force was announced. A month later the main body of the South African Forces in the field arrived in Kenya, the units comprising a complete army, the largest and best equipped force ever dispatched from the Union.

By agreement with the U.K. government, the Union is responsible for the defence of Simonstown, the African Naval Station. Members of the S.A.N.V.R. are serving in armed merchant cruisers. The Seaward Defence Force is concerned with mine-sweeping and patrolling, anti-submarine work, the manning of signal stations, and the control of all shipping entering Union ports. In May last the minesweepers successfully swept a minefield discovered off Cape Agulhas, Africa's most southern point.

The rapid expansion of the South African Air Force has necessitated considerable re-organization both in military and civil aviation. The whole of the pre-war civil air organization has been harnessed for war effort, both for training and war operations. Advanced military air training is carried out at Pretoria, Johannesburg, Kimberley and Bloemfontein.

Newfoundland
General agreement for the defence of Newfoundland was reached between that country and Canada in August.

The Government called for 1,300 volunteers for service with the Royal Artillery. The first contingent arrived in the U.K. on April 25, and the fifth on August 19. By the end of June, Newfoundland had sent 5,400 men overseas, and 2,000 more ready to go.

625 expert boatmen were asked for by the Royal Navy for service in the Northern Patrol. Further contingents of men for general service in the Navy were recruited and have been arriving in the U.K. By the end of May there were about 1,000 Newfoundlanders serving in the Royal Navy. Hundreds more arrived in June and July. The tenth contingent arrived on August 27.

Men are also serving in the Merchant Navy.

Southern Rhodesia
On May 30, 1940 Southern Rhodesia introduced liability for compulsory military training service for all Europeans in the colony between the ages of 18 and 55. The first group aged 18-25 were called up for military training soon afterwards and the age group 25-40 in June 1940.

In June it was announced that a native unit to be known as the Rhodesian African Rifles would be raised for service in Africa. 85 Africans have been formed into a colored Motor Transport Corps and are serving in Kenya.

Rhodesian soldiers have been posted to various other British forces, in West Africa, in East Africa, in the United Kingdom and the Middle East. The first contingent of Rhodesian troops reached Egypt on April 30.

Airmen from Southern Rhodesia when trained, will be posted to the R.A.F. retaining their identity. They will form the three Southern Rhodesian squadrons of the R.A.F. which were accepted for service by the United Kingdom Government at the outbreak of the war.

WONDERS FROM MILK

Skimmed milk, once considered only fit food for pigs and poultry, has been converted by the chemist into a material of a thousand uses.

Present day chemists and food processors have wrought their alchemy on skim milk, and performed wonders with it as a new raw material, says Victor Baker, under the heading of "Curds and Whey" in the current issue of C.I.L. Oval.

Used in plywood for airplanes, it helps man to fly. Used in chemical sprays, it helps insects to lose all interest in flying. Playing cards and wallpaper have it as an ingredient. Added to kalsomine, it gives walls and ceilings a durable and washable surface. Found in cosmetics, shoe polish, water-paints, putty and rubber goods, it is also fashioned into plastics, artificial ivory and used for dressing cloth and coating paper.

To name all of the industries served by casein, one of the most useful of the many products of milk, would be quite a catalogue. Magazine paper, surfaced with casein glue and dusted with fine china clay, acquires a glossy finish. When it comes to plastics the list is impressive. Beads and fancy buckles, pocket combs and poker chips, pencil barrels and lipstick containers, knitting needles and dominoes, cuff links for the gentleman and artificial flowers for the modern miss and buttons for everyone — all can trace their history back to the dairy farm.

Ontario's new volunteer constabulary will serve without pay, and in addition, each member of the organization has to pay $68 for a uniform, which consists of a blue tunic with khaki breeches.

NOTES ON HOUSE PLANTS

The chief difficulty encountered in growing plants in the house, is the hot dry atmosphere, writes Miss Isabella Preston, Division of Horticulture, Dominion Experimental Farms Service. This can be controlled, to some extent by keeping dishes of water on the radiators and spraying the plants with a mist-like spray of water. The spraying helps to destroy insects, and by keeping the foliage of the plants free from dust, encourages good growth. Light is another necessity and a window that has sunlight for several hours a day is required for most flowering plants, but ferns and other plants grown for their leaves will do well without the sun. Fresh air is essential, but draughts and sudden changes of temperature must be avoided.

The soil should be very rich and porous, so that water drains out of it easily. A compost made up of 3 parts good loam, 2 parts leaf mould, 1 part sand and about a tablespoonful of bone meal, added to a quart of mixed soil will suit most plants. All should be thoroughly mixed and slightly moistened.

If new clay pots are used, they should be soaked in water for a time and dried before using. Old pots should be thoroughly scrubbed, both inside and out. Before putting in the soil, some broken crocks should be placed over the drainage hole. Pots should not be larger than is necessary to hold the roots. It is better to transplant a plant in a small pot and then repot it in a larger one when the roots have filled the small one. When plants are in active growth, some fertilizer can be given. The tablets sold under various names are the easiest to use on potted plants in the home.

Glazed pots without any drainage are now used quite extensively for some plants. Cactus and other succulents which are so popular now, do quite well in fancy pots, but do not grow as rapidly as they do in more natural conditions. Sansevieria will keep in good condition for several weeks, but will not grow much. Great care is required in watering all plants, especially those grown in glazed pots. If plants in clay pots are placed in a pan of water so that the soil is saturated occasionally, there will be no danger of the ball of earth round the roots becoming dry. The pots should be allowed to drain so that all surplus moisture is removed before placing in the window. Plants should be watered often enough to keep the soil moist, but not wet. Only practice will tell one when to do it. The soil in glazed pots must not be allowed to dry out, but it will require less water than in a clay pot, and if allowed to become sodden, will soon effect the plant.

Succulents

There are a number of different species of plants in this group though they are all called Cactus by some dealers. The majority of them require light soil and not very much water, and thrive in hot rooms. The Christmas Cactus is a very attractive house plant when in bloom and some people are able to manage it so well that it blooms every year. The flower buds should be formed in November, and more water will be required. After blooming, a rest period with little water is desirable. The other plants in this group are grown for their peculiar shapes and not for their blooms.

Flowering Plants

The geranium is well known and often does well in sunny windows. They should not be grown in large pots, as they bloom better in small ones. Plants that have been growing in the garden in the summer, can be taken up and the roots and the tops cut back severely, and potted in sandy soil. When the roots become active again, repot into a richer soil, but soil too rich in nitrogen will produce reddish leaves. The leaves are reddish when grown in hot sun outdoors, but generally turn green in the winter. Cuttings are easily rooted in water from the branches that grow too long to be desirable.

The everblooming, small flowering Begonia semperflorens is one of the most satisfactory house plants. The flowers are small, but there are always some to be found. The leaves are reddish when grown in hot sun outdoors, but generally turn green in the winter. Cuttings are easily rooted in water from the branches that grow too long to be desirable.

The African Violet, (Saintpaulia), seems to do best in a place where it gets plenty of light, but not direct sunlight. It sometimes takes a long time to start into bloom.

Petunias can be treated like geraniums, or seedlings can be potted and grown in the house.

Visiting the St. Thomas Technical Training Centre of the R.C.A.F., Hon. C. G. Power, minister of National Defence, took time off to visit the international plowing match. The defence minister is shown, centre, with Air Marshal L. S. Broadner and J. Dunlop, deputy defence minister as they were watching the plowing.

"Pollages," should be cut back like geraniums and grown in a sunny window. If they lack light, they lose their color. Ferns of all sorts require little direct sunlight, but dislike the hot dry atmosphere of central heated houses. The soil for them should contain more leaf mould or peat than other plants require. They are very subject to attacks by scale insects and a constant watch should be kept for them, and any found should be destroyed at once.

Rex and other fancy leaved Begonias do well in houses, and their variegated foliage add a note of color to a group of ferns.

The Aspidistra is supposed to stand adverse conditions better than most plants. When well grown, the rich green of the large leaves is very attractive. When the pots become crowded, it is better to divide the plant rather than pot it into a larger pot.

Constant watch must be kept for insects, as once they become numerous, it is almost impossible to control them.

Members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association have been able to make an extra special contribution towards Canada's war effort.

The 'Crop Testing Plan' last year was able to develop a market in the United States for fairly large quantities of Registered cereal seeds produced by prairie members of the Association. The sale of these seeds, and of the Canadian made sacks in which they are contained, to farmers in the United States, brought to Canada a goodly quantity of American dollars. These dollars in turn were available to the Canadian government to buy more munitions made in the United States. (These seed sales to the United States, besides being of value in a military sense, also removed part of the seed surplus from the West, and so tended, of course, to raise the price of the remainder.)

Old established seed houses, both East and West, which are pressing Canadian seeds — alfalfa, clover, timothy, grasses and other kinds, on the American market, are rendering the same valuable extra service.

Other members of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, who are producing the newly developed registered vegetable seeds, and who in consequence are obviating the necessity of importing large quantities of these stocks from the United States, are also making a valuable contribution to our war effort by saving American exchange.

Following factors have tended to raise prices: New South Wales wheat harvest estimated at 43½ million bushels less than last year. Recent reports advise that Greece has purchased 20,000 tons of Australian wheat. It is officially reported that the wheat crop in occupied France is extremely poor.

Following factors have tended to lower prices: Reports indicate Russia will have bumper crops of wheat and potatoes. 1940 Canadian barley crop is third largest on record. European weather conditions are favorable for winter ploughing and seeding operations. 1940 Manchurian soybean crop is estimated to be 12 per cent higher than that of 1939.

VACCINE FOR MEASLES

Discovery of a vaccine for measles was recently announced at the Biennial Conference of the University of Pennsylvania.

The new vaccine is said to be universal, good for both children and adults. If the story is true, and it seems authentic, soldiers will be protected against the fatal attacks of pneumonia that have followed measles outbreaks in military camps.

Measles strikes heavily against young adults who have escaped the affliction in childhood. It is particularly heavy in the case of country-bred boys who, because of isolation in childhood have hitherto escaped infection.

The vaccine is the first for this almost universal children's disease, and is the result of years of labor in various laboratories. It was developed by Dr. Joseph Stokes Jr. of the University of Pennsylvania's Medical School and Dr. Geoffrey Hake of the Squibb Institute, New Brunswick, N. J.

The guinea pigs used in the series of experiments productive of the vaccine were children. This unusual use of children for such a purpose was made possible by a peculiarity of measles, namely that the disease is seldom serious in late spring. New Jersey and Philadelphia institutions with the consent of the parents, permitted the spring tests. Some of the children were vaccinated, others not. All were then exposed to measles. All of the unvaccinated youngsters caught measles, but not one of those protected by vaccine.

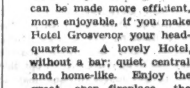

It will be a notable advance in public health if, as seems likely, the vaccine should fulfill the claims made for it.

Now is the time to get your heating apparatus overhauled and put in good condition for the heavy use the coming cold weather will put on it. Also see about your insurance against fire risk. Joe Welch can fix this up for you.

(INCUBATOR QUALITY)
KEROSENE

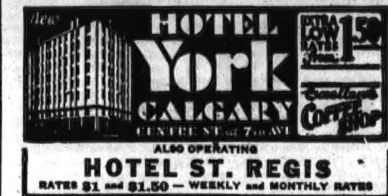

Cleaner-burning, more efficient

ESSOLITE, the new kerosene recently developed in Imperial Oil research laboratories, is a distinctly different kind of Kerosene. It is an incubator quality fuel and is so free from sulphur and other impurities that it burns with practically no odor and assures cleaner wicks.

In lamps and lanterns, Essolite burns with a brilliant, white, flickerless flame. In oil stoves, it gives a steady, uniform heat. In incubators, brooders and refrigerators, it burns safely and uniformly. Essolite Kerosene, now made in Imperial Oil refineries at Calgary and Regina from Turner Valley crude oil, really offers exceptional value, the value you expect in a high grade incubator oil, yet sells at the price of regular kerosene. Ask your Imperial Oil agent or dealer for Essolite.

AMONG THE OLD-TIMERS

REMINISCENCES OF OTHER DAYS

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

The choir of the United church were entertained at the home of Mrs. W. S. Clark last week when a delightful evening of music and games was indulged in.

Mr. A. Henry, who recently arrived home from the hospital, still requires crutches for his injured leg. An old-time resident here, in the person of Mrs. C. Davies of Biggar, is visiting at the home of Mrs. J. Suberland.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Miss Enid M. McLean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Archie McLean became the bride of Mr. Oliver W. Murray, eldest son of Mr. William Murray. Rev. G. Pybus performed the ceremony. Following a short honeymoon the young couple will take up residence near the Gerald school where the groom teaches.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis of Greenshields have rented the Plaxton house on Fifth avenue where they will reside for the winter months.

A new business is to be engaged in in the district. Mr. A. Kinghorn

GIFT EDGE

The Gift Edge Ladies' Guild reported that they had a real good crowd and a fair time was had by all. Mr. S. Plaxton was the quilt.

There will be a whist drive and dance at Plaxtonville school in aid of the Christmas tree. Also there is an Indian blanket to be raffled off that night. Come and enjoy yourself.

Sheepskin Flats

Mrs. Alvin Johnson is visiting her mother in law Mrs. E. Johnson of Vaner.

We are sorry to report that Mr. Cam Templeton is on the sick list.

We offer our deepest sympathy to Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Plaxton in their sad bereavement.

The chicken supper sponsored by the Gift Edge Club in aid of the Red Cross, was a great success.

Saturday saw the wind-up of threshing operations in the district, and the boys are all ready now to settle down for the winter.

EDGERTON

There seems to be a decided scarcity of news this week unless our ears and eyes have failed us—which is quite possible, — at any rate it appears to us that everybody has been intent on his business of preparing for winter. Draymen are hauling coal hither and yon, screens are coming down and storm sash going up; Jack Frost will have his work cut out to do much damage here.

It is hard to believe that in a very few weeks now the second Christmas of this war will be here, and it strikes us very forcibly that NOW is the appointed time to start getting busy on parcels for the soldiers, sailors and air-force boys. Let us be sure we do not disappoint a single one by putting off from day to day the planning and despatch of surprise packets of Christmas goodies to the boys who are giving their all that we might live in peace.

Members of the Masonic lodge entertained their wives at bridge on Thursday evening in the lodgeroom. It is understood that approximately 10 couples spent a most enjoyable time, and rumor has it that there may be more such affairs in the not too distant future.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stanley left early last week for Edmonton where they will reside in future. It is believed that Norman has secured a more lucrative position which will continue throughout the winter.

On Thursday of this week (Oct. 31) the local Masons will sponsor a big dance to be held in Pawsey's Hall. Proceeds will go to the Red Cross and the Masonic War Fund. A similar evening last year was greatly enjoyed by all who attended, and all concerned hoped that the response will be as generous on this occasion.

At time of writing it certainly is looking as though winter has definitely arrived, but we shall just have to put up with it; and after all April isn't so very far away when one considers how short a time it seems since last Christmas!

The annual W.A. bazaar will be held next Saturday afternoon in the basement of St. Mary's (Ang.) church from 3 p.m. on. We have been asked to remind you all that it will be an excellent opportunity to secure inexpensive Christmas gifts, have a real friendly chat over a cup of tea, and purchase your week-end cooking all in one operation.

and brother are building pens and shipping in foxes which they will raise.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Chasterton of Gift Edge was completely destroyed by fire Friday morning. Very few of the contents were able to be saved.

GREENSHIELDS

Miss Bunny Bond celebrated her eighth birthday on Tuesday last by entertaining a few little friends after school.

Messrs John and Steve Hopshak left for their homes in Manitoba last week after a good holiday with relatives and several weeks in the harvest fields.

Trippers to Edmonton during the past week included Miss D. Daniels and Mrs. W. Muncaster, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Patterson, Mrs. and Miss Farnell and Mrs. F. Morcom.

The Greenshields Go-Getters club is to be reorganized at a meeting called for November 5th at the hall. All members and others interested are asked to attend.

The members of the Ladies Aid are preparing for their annual supper in the hall on Friday, November 1st, when a good attendance is hoped for.

Miss Lillian Pfleger was home for the week end. By all reports, the return journey to Empire school was not so pleasant Sunday night.

Mr. L. I. Carl has been on the sick list for a day or two, and we wish him better.

COLLECTS MOTHS AS HOBBY.

Of all the strange hobbies indulged in by man, none is stranger than the one practiced by Austin McMahon, a night watchman for Trans-Canada Air Lines at Moncton, N.B. airport. McMahon collects moths and they come to him of their own accord attracted by the airport lights. He has a splendid collection, including a fine group of colored specimens with a wing spread ranging up to four inches.

HEATH

Miss Alberta Davis, who has been staying with her parents at Arm Lake, has now gone on to Rocky Mountain House to take up Mission work for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mockford and family, of Coronation, were visitors in the district over the week end.

Mrs. Geo. Davis of Arm Lake entertained a few friends on Saturday to tea, the occasion being her birthday.

RAILWAYS ARE IMPORTANT IN CONTINENTAL DEFENSE

OTTAWA—Declaring that the railways are as important to the defense of this continent as are the armed forces, Robert S. Henry, assistant to the President, Association of American Railroads, told the organization's Telegraph and Telephone section in convention here at the Chateau Laurier, that the rail carriers are a vital element in the security of Canada and the United States.

"There is no dividing line in the positions of the railroads of Canada and the United States," Mr. Henry said. "The railroads are a unit in their operations and traffic. Their service is continent wide. Their equipment and methods are standardized and interchangeable. A freight car may be loaded at any station in the forty-eight states of the Union or the nine provinces of the Dominion for movement in through and uninterrupted service to any other station in either of the two countries. The freight moves on joint through rates, and under other cooperative joint arrangements."

Discussing the Canadian situation, Mr. Henry said: "In Canada the railroads have proved their ability to handle both the needs of commerce and the needs of defense in the year past."

ALBERTA INDUSTRY GIVES NEW PRODUCT

Reporting recently on petroleum industry, the Alberta Royal Commission had this to say—"In our view, there could have been no support for the present-day range of activities of the industry, and of the other industries depending upon it without the dynamic technology which has been developed in every branch of the oil business through the unstinted expenditure of money by companies who were in a financial position to make large expenditures in support of scientific endeavor."

Imperial Oil Limited, always a leader in petroleum research, announces in this issue of this paper a notable improvement in kerosene following a laboratory research and plant improvement. The new kerosene now being sold by Imperial dealers and agents is branded Imperial.

Essoite Kerosene. Never before, it is said, has a kerosene of this high incubator quality been made available at the price of regular kerosene. Essoite Kerosene is said to give improved performance in every use to which kerosene is put.

Essoite Kerosene is produced at Imperial Oil's Regina and Calgary refineries from Turner Valley crude oil, and is therefore a purely Alberta product.

PERFECT PIE SECRET

There's a lot of domestic insurance in good pie, and the woman who can make them has been celebrated by word of mouth—even by poetry—since pie became America's top dessert.

When it comes to lemon pie, ranking favorite according to inquiring reporters, too many women give up saying, "I just can't make it like Tom's mother used to make." It's really quite simple if you know the secret. Don't cook the lemon juice! Add it last, after the filling has cooked. Then you'll have a pie with that fresh lemon flavor.

If you think you can't make pie crust, try adding fresh lemon juice and a beaten egg to your pastry mix. This trick gives a flaky crust that literally melts in your mouth—and you can use it, regardless of the variety of filling in the pie.

Here are full directions for making the pie crust with lemon, and an old-fashioned lemon pie filling as they do it in California, which supplies the rest of the country and Canada with lemons.

Pastry

3 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup shortening
1 slightly beaten egg
3 tablespoons lemon juice
Ice water
Sift flour and salt together. Cut in shortening. Add egg, combined with lemon juice. Add gradually just enough ice water to bind dough together. Roll pastry out thin and line pie plates. (This recipe makes three 8-inch single pie shells. Keep unbaked dough in refrigerator until needed.) Bake in hot oven (475° F.) for 15 minutes.

Lemon Pie Filling

1 cup water or milk
¼ cup sugar
2 cups lemon salt
1 teaspoon grated lemon peel
5 tablespoons cornstarch
½ cup cold water
2 well-beaten egg yolks
1 tablespoon butter
6 tablespoons lemon juice

Bring water or milk, sugar, salt and lemon peel to a boil in saucepan on direct heat. Add cornstarch, blended with ½ cup cold water. Cook over low heat, until thickened (about 5 minutes), stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add separately, mixing well after each addition, the egg yolks, butter and lemon juice. Pour filling into baked pastry shell. A teaspoon of lemon juice added to the whites of 2 eggs and 4 tablespoons of sugar makes a tender meringue. Use the whites left from the lemon filling; add sugar gradually.

Continue beating only until egg holds its shape in peaks. Fold in lemon juice. Brown pie in moderate oven (350° F.) for 15 minutes.

Stuffed Vegetable Marrow

Cut a medium sized marrow in half, lengthwise. Pare and remove the seeds. Cook the halves in boiling water for ten minutes and drain. Fill with following stuffing:

1 cup finely chopped ham or left-over meat
2 cups medium cream sauce
2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
Salt and pepper

Place the marrow on a well-greased baking shell. Cover the filling with buttered crumbs and bake for 20 minutes in a moderate oven (350° F.) Delicious supper dish serving six to eight.

LAMB STEW AND HASH

Some of our old-fashioned dishes prepared in a new-fashioned way will delight the family or your guests. One or two new ingredients not called for in grandmother's recipe, and we have a delightful modern lamb-course dish. Here are modern recipes for lamb stew and hash that you will want to try now:

Limas and Lamb Stew

(a one dish meal)
1 cup dried limas
2 lbs of lamb cut into cubes
2 small potatoes, sliced
1 small onion, sliced
1 cup canned corn
1 cup strained cooked tomatoes
Sear the meat cubes in bacon fat. Put cubes, onion and potatoes into a covered saucepan, cover with boiling water and simmer gently for 1½ hours. Add limas, corn and tomatoes. Bring to the boiling point, and cook 5 minutes. Cover closely and cook slowly for about three hours.

Vegetable Hash

1 cup cooked, dried limas
2 cups cooked potatoes
1 cupful cooked carrots, diced
4 tablespoons fat
3 onions, chopped fine
1-8 teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon salt
Mix all ingredients. Heat fat in a heavy frying pan; add vegetables and spread evenly. Cover and cook over a low fire until brown on the bottom. Fold like an omelet and serve at once.

Orange Marshmallows

2 tablespoons unflavored gelatin
1 cup orange juice
2 cups sugar
1 egg white
1 teaspoon grated orange peel
Powdered sugar

Soak the gelatin in ¼ cup of the orange juice. Add the other ½ cup orange juice to sugar and boil to hard ball stage (253° F.). Stir this into the soaked gelatin and beat until dissolved. Beat egg white until stiff. Gradually beat the gelatin mixture and orange peel into egg white and continue beating until cool and stiff. Pour into a square pan that has been buttered and dusted well with powdered sugar. When firm cut into squares with a sharp hot knife. Roll in powdered sugar. Keep in a covered container in refrigerator to retain moisture.

MARRIED IN DEPOT

Saskatoon—Wedding chimes and train bells mingled at the Canadian National Railway's new depot here recently when Edna May Beveridge of Saskatoon became the bride of Joseph Albert Beattie, R.C.A.F. aero-engine mechanic. The wedding was performed in the office of William Stapleton, District Passenger Agent, between departure and arrival of the National's Continental Limited.
The airman was a busy man. He got off the train at 9:30 p.m., said hello to his folks, married his fiancée, said goodbye to everyone but his wife and left with her for Vancouver on the same train a few minutes before ten o'clock.

DECONTAMINATING RUMORS ON ENGLAND HOME FRONT

An editor finds "Rumor stopping" contributes to steadying of morale. Are you a rumor stopper?
A sub-editor asked this question of himself as war news flashed over the wires in short dramatic sentences.

Rumor chased rumor through the office, unexpectably influencing the treatment of news. If fear crept into the headlines, countless readers might catch it over night and at their breakfast tables.

"The righteous man shall not be afraid of evil tidings; his heart is fixed, trusting in the Lord." The words of the Psalm came to the sub-editor's mind and he saw appropriate headings—

Rumor Decontaminating Headquarters—Old Rumors Rendered Harmless—New Rumors Critically Examined

Next evening he wrote these out and pinned them on his desk. The chief rumor-monger in the office greeted him lugubriously.
"Have you heard . . . ?" he began. Then his eyes caught the notice. "Oh well, I'd better be getting along," he said, and beat a hasty retreat.

The gossip writer saw it. "We had better start decontaminating a rumor a day in the paper," he said. "Small we begin with the hairy-handed Nun, or the parachutists!"

Everyone wanted copies. The printer was asked by his air-raid warden at home for posters for every A.R.P. post in the district. Editors in other towns have had the notice printed. Now copies have been issued all over the country. They have been posted in buses, trains, and factories and government departments.

"The way I meet a rumor," said the sub-editor, "shows me whether I am putting my own importance or the nation first. Rumors are scientifically designed to play upon your hopes, your vanity or your fears, and to bring about, through your demonstration the moral collapse of Britain."

It takes plenty of courage to save money! The easy way to learn is to buy a life insurance policy which will return all your money with good interest if you live to the end of the term, and also protects your family in case of your death. See Joe Welch for all kinds of insurance.

Why the Red Cross is in urgent need of funds

Here are a few tasks the Canadian Red Cross must tackle at once:

- 1 At the request of the British Red Cross, it has undertaken to provide 10,000 parcels of food each week from Canada for British prisoners of war in Germany. Canadians can thus help to lessen the strain on Britain's food supplies.
- 2 The Canadian Red Cross will provide, equip and co-operate with the Department of National Defence in maintaining a number of convalescent hospitals in various parts of Canada for use by Canadian soldiers, here and from overseas, who are sick or wounded.
- 3 The Canadian Red Cross will help to supply clothing and other necessities to the more than 100,000 evacuee children in Britain, and the 100,000 refugees from invaded countries who have sought shelter under the Union Jack. Many articles of relief clothing have been supplied, but another half million articles will be needed from Canadian Red Cross workrooms.
- 4 The Canadian Red Cross is sending an increasing flow of supplies for the alleviation of civilian suffering caused by enemy bombing of Britain.
- 5 As Canada's own armed forces grow, on land, on sea and in the air, the need for Red Cross services increases.
- 6 The Red Cross must be ready and fully equipped to meet any emergency at the moment it arises.

These are tasks you must not leave undone. Support the Red Cross with all your heart.

CANADIAN RED CROSS Give to the utmost...now!

WHOSE MONEY
IS it?

WHAT money? Why—the money in the banks! The money carefully put away by you and your neighbours in savings accounts. The money you could have spent today but wanted to keep safely against some future need. The businessman's money for use in his normal operations. There are more than 4,846,000 bank deposit accounts, savings and current. Within these two classes the great majority of deposits are small or of moderate amount. ¶ But you'd be wrong if you assumed from this, that the rest of the deposits are owned by the few! Quite the contrary! The railways, for instance, have deposits in the chartered banks—and that indirectly includes the whole population of the Dominion. The trade unions have deposits. Millions of policy-holders share in the ownership of insurance companies' deposits. ¶ And don't overlook the deposits of wheat pools; farm co-operatives; churches; municipalities and municipal hydro commissions, school districts; school children's penny bank savings deposited with the chartered banks; and commercial and mining corporations with very wide lists of shareholders, large and small, all over Canada. Truly, money on deposit in Canada's chartered banks is owned, in fact, by you and your fellow-Canadians.

[In war, as in peace, Canada's Chartered Banks maintain, uninterrupted, their useful services—safeguarding depositors' funds; facilitating the nation's business—looking forward to peace with freedom as the only sure basis of enduring prosperity.]
